Nevada Career Institute to Open a New Campus Location in Las Vegas Focused on Training Students to Become Registered Nurses

NCI Continues to Answer the Increasing Demand for Highly Trained Health Care Workers

LAS VEGAS, Nevada— Nevada Career Institute (NCI) has purchased a new building in Las Vegas and is in the process of preparing this innovative new property to be a second campus location and future home of the Marsha Fuerst School of Nursing at NCI.

“We are thrilled to add this intentional space to support nurse training in Las Vegas,” shared NCI President Mitchell Fuerst. “It underscores our continued commitment to educating students for success in a rapidly evolving health care field.”

The facility will provide students in the Marsha Fuerst School of Nursing at NCI with the opportunity to train and learn in a dynamic environment specifically designed to better equip them to hit the ground running upon graduation.

Students in the Associate Degree in Nursing program will have the opportunity to dive into hands-on learning experiences in new labs and classrooms—all with the goal of turning knowledge into practical skills as they work to become Registered Nurses.

“We cannot wait to see the impact this new campus location will have on our students,” Fuerst explained. “We recognize that this new space is not only an investment in our students, but also in the patients and communities they will go on to serve.”
